

Privacy Policy of Lisa M. Pace

We care about your privacy and we keep any personal information you share secure.

This policy covers user privacy, system security, and data collection practices. This Privacy Policy Statement applies only to the website for Lisa M. Pace and our policy for storage and handling of information furnished by those who visit our website or contact us.

You are encouraged to also check the Privacy Policies of other web sites before providing any personal information.

Information presented on these pages, both text and images, are considered copyrighted original work and may not be distributed or copied without written consent of Lisa M. Pace.

Site Management Data

- Use of "cookies"...

Cookies are small text files used by some websites to customize the site's behavior based on a user's past preferences. This website does not store or access any cookies on your computer.

- Use of clear GIFs and other covert data-collection sneakiness...

This site does not contain any third-party advertising, hidden or otherwise, and will not collect any personal information from your web browser or any other software running on your computer.

- Storage and data security...

No personal information of any kind is stored within the Lisa M. Pace website.

Email protocol and email address handling

- At the current time, the only information collected and stored by Lisa M. Pace are email addresses voluntarily submitted through this site or through direct phone or email contact.

- We request that you do not furnish any other sensitive personal or financial information when contacting us via email, because email is not a secure form of communication.